Spring Term 2021 Issue 5

Dear Parents and Carers,

Thank you once again to all of our families for the amazing job they are doing with remote education. Please remember it is perfectly reasonable to stop what you are doing if a lesson or learning task is not going as well as you would hope. If you need to, prioritise the work you know your child will engage with better, or be more interested in. Attempt a lesson or an activity but stop if your child is becoming restless or unsettled, even if they have only partially completed it. If they can complete everything - great. If they are struggling to complete everything - their best effort is enough. It is not a competition. You do what works for your family and your child and please be mindful of each other's feeling and circumstances, particularly on What's App groups. Our greatest challenge as teachers is providing a remote education package that meets such a wide range of circumstances at home. We appreciate every effort being made and that each family has a unique set of circumstances and challenge. We think you are doing a fantastic job.

Government Guidance

We must remind all families of the importance of following the most recent government guidance, including that around childcare or support bubbles. This is especially important to protect the staff and the children of critical workers coming into school. Families should not be meeting, even outside, and travelling outside your home should only be for exercise, shopping for essentials or if you are travelling to work as a critical worker.

Children's Mental Health Week

It was fabulous to see so many of you dressed up or wearing your favourite colours to "Express Yourself" for this year's Children's Mental Health Week. Thank you to those who donated to Place2Be. Tysoe strives to be an inclusive school that encourages you all to celebrate your uniqueness and individuality.

Attached are some websites and apps that parents might find useful in supporting their children's health and well-being during these continued challenges and isolation. Please also remember you can contact the school confidentially via supporttys@welearn365.com if you need some further support or guidance.

Collective Worship

We have Collective Worship every Monday at 9:15am and every Friday at 9:30am.

Our Christian core value this half term is Perseverance.

Oak Class - Everyone is a Star!

Oak Class decided that everyone in their class is a star!

Silver Birch Class Art

We enjoyed following an Art Base video to create a pencil drawing of Van Gogh starry night.

Silver Birch Class also used inspiration from one of their favourite authors (Katherine Rundell) to write 'what if' poems.
